

THE EYRIE

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

A great tragedy has come to pass within our enchanted castle. Good King Richard, our kind and gentle ruler, has been called away to fight other dragons. We will be sorry to lose him, for he has been a very good ruler. He is attentive and concerned about his subjects, and he has used his power wisely and justly. Also being sent to seek their fortunes are the Duke Thomas Dill and Sir Robert, Earl of Whitehouse, both good men. For lo these many years, King Richard has peacefully reigned. But as turmoil and strife sweep the kingdom, it has been decreed that our good king should leave us. So we gratefully dedicate our book to King Richard Chamberlain and his loyal assistants.

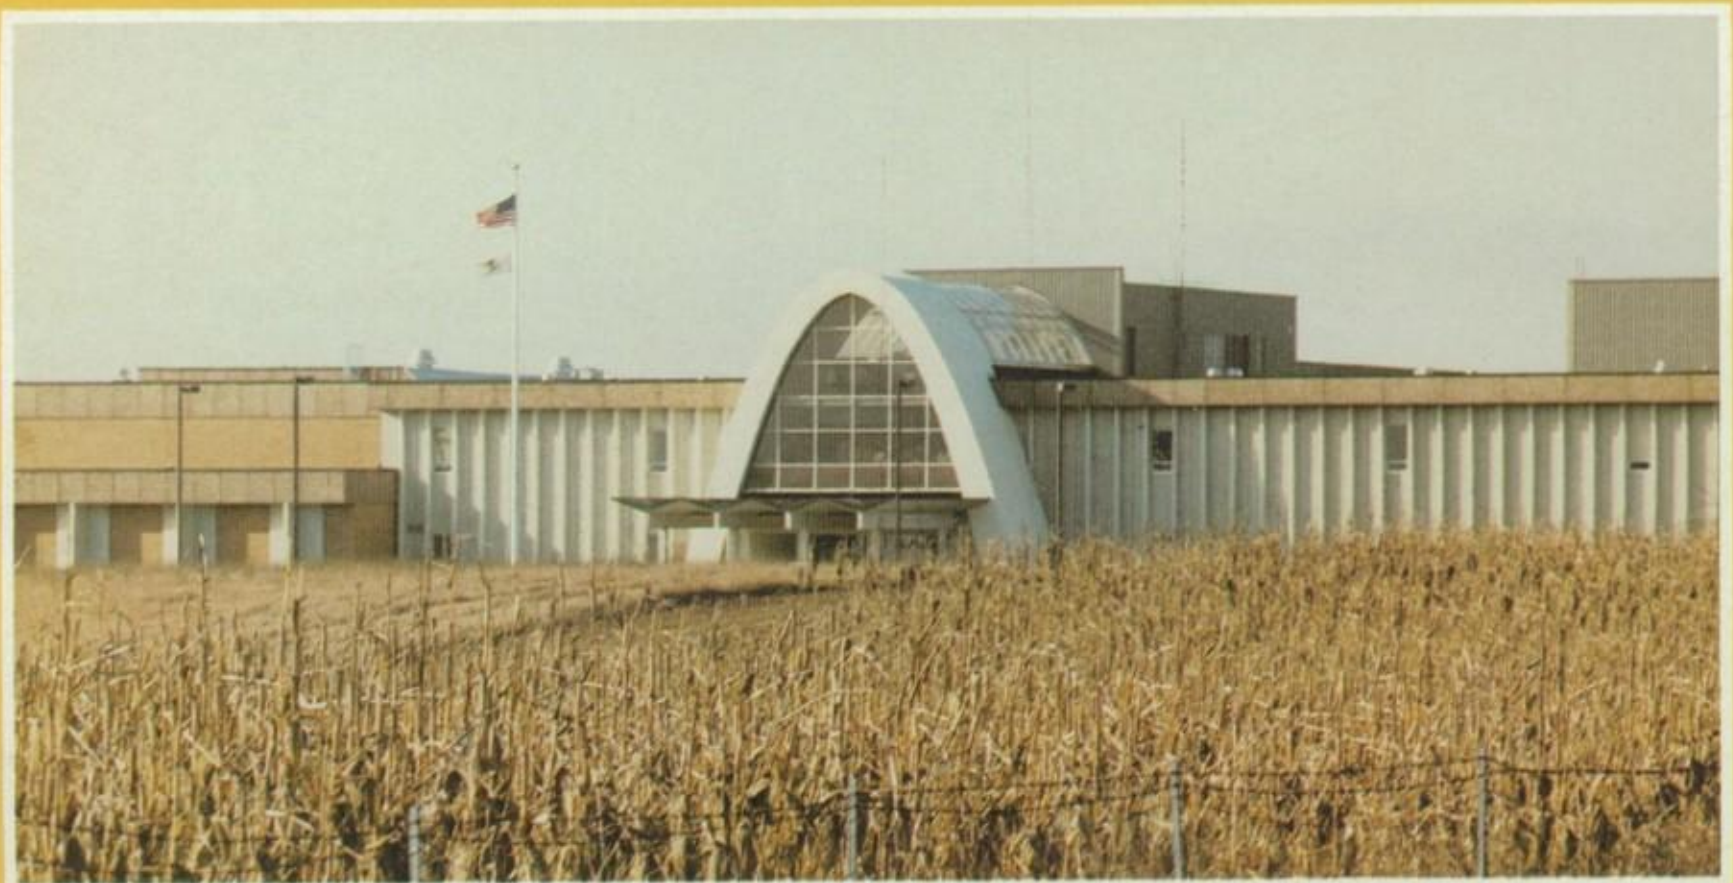

Long Live the King!

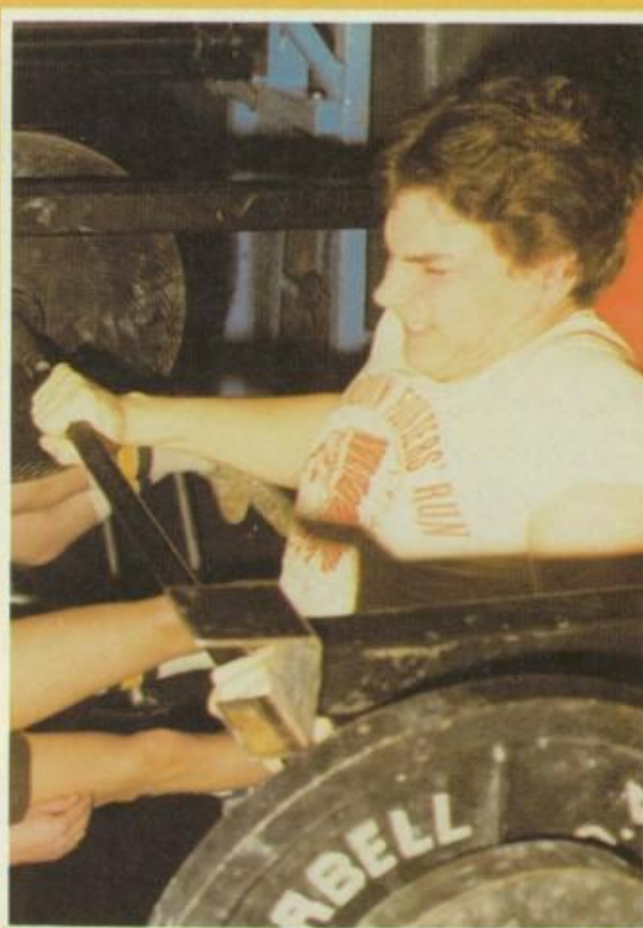

nce upon a time, in the mythical land of Illinois, in a cornfield near the tiny villages of Algonquin and Lake in the Hills, there was an enchanted castle known to all as Harry D. Jacobs High School. Therein dwelt many inhabitants.

The greater part of their time was spent in festive merriment. They sang and played their instruments and performed feats of great physical daring.

Much of their time was spent in scholarly pursuit, strictly watched by the rulers of the kingdom, the fearsome giants.

Each year, into the kingdom would arrive bright-eyed, eager new subjects. Each year they would grow wiser until finally it was time for them to venture out into the world. But the life of the enchanted castle went on, and everyone lived happily ever after.

Homecoming '82 was a smashing success. The start of this big celebration was Spirit Week with it's hundreds of participants dressed in peace T-shirts, bow ties and togas. This year's Spirit Week consisted of Sports Day, Professional Day, Toga Day, Sixties Day, and Brown & Gold Day. The juniors won the Sports Day competition, but the seniors walked away with all of the rest. The senior class also won the hall decoration contest with a balloons and rainbows design. However, the juniors did make a comeback by winning the Spirit Jug competition.

Getting the spirit

Friday night there was a tug-of-war between the junior and senior girls. The junior girls arose victorious. After the tug, there was the annual bonfire behind the school. It was a lot of fun, and everyone went their own way. They met again Saturday morning for the big parade, through Algonquin. The freshmen did a great job on their float, and they received first place. After the parade, everybody went to the football games, which were all very good. "Up Where We Belong," the title song from the hit movie "An Officer and a Gentleman" was the theme of this year's dance. Kevin Reber and Sylvia Salazar were elected king and queen. All in all, Homecoming '82 was a great success and lot of fun for everyone.

Jacobs' Production Of "The Music Man"

And another thing, Mr. Hill ...

Winthrop, where's your manners?

Thy Banners make Tyranny tremble

For no Diana do I play faun

Please observe me if you will

This year's musical, "The Music Man," was undoubtedly one of the finest productions ever on the Jacobs stage. A combination of outstanding talent, fine direction, and cooperation made this a superb event. The story concerns a fast-talking salesman who comes into town and talks the gullible townspeople into buying instruments and uniforms by promising to form the kids into a band. Harold Hill, the salesman, pretends to woo the librarian and music teacher, Marian Paroo, in order to keep her from revealing the fact that he really has no credentials. Harold manages to charm the whole town, with the help of his old sidekick, Marcellus Washburn. Even Marian begins to fall for him when the arrival of the instruments excites her shy little brother Winthrop. When a rival salesman comes to town with evidence against the Music Man, Harold realizes that he can't leave because he loves Marian. The performance of the boy's band softens the hearts of the angry townspeople and they forgive him.

But you can win her yet!

But nothing, girly-girl!

I'm shot!

Seventy-six Trombones led the big parade

Goodnight Ladies

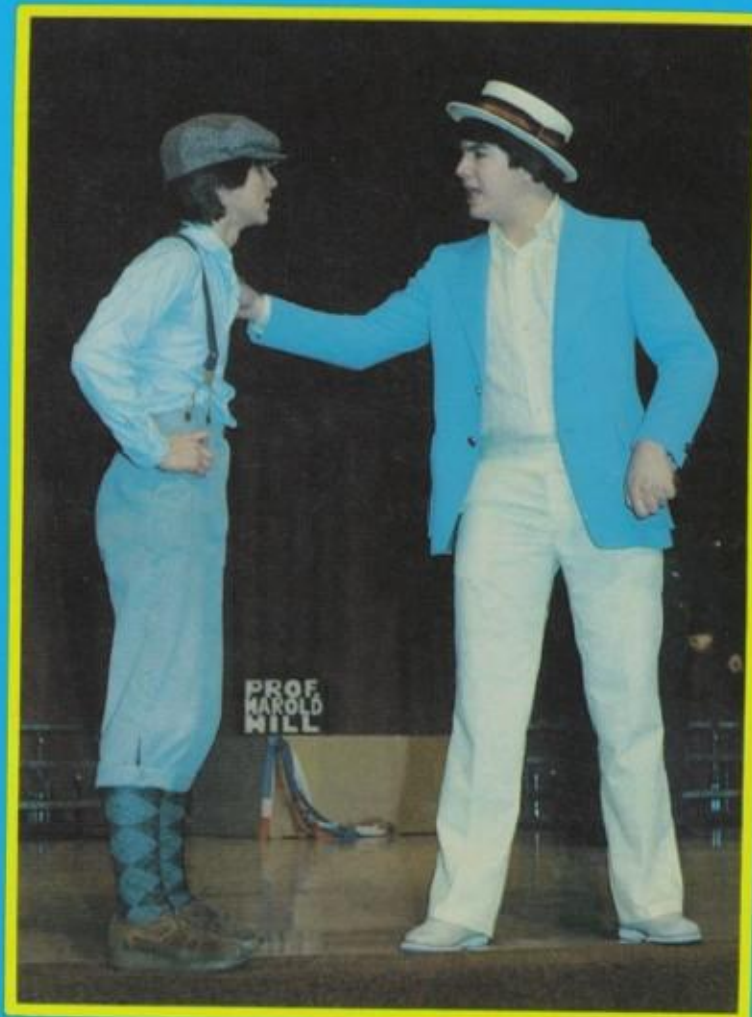

You can talk all you wanta, but it's different than it was

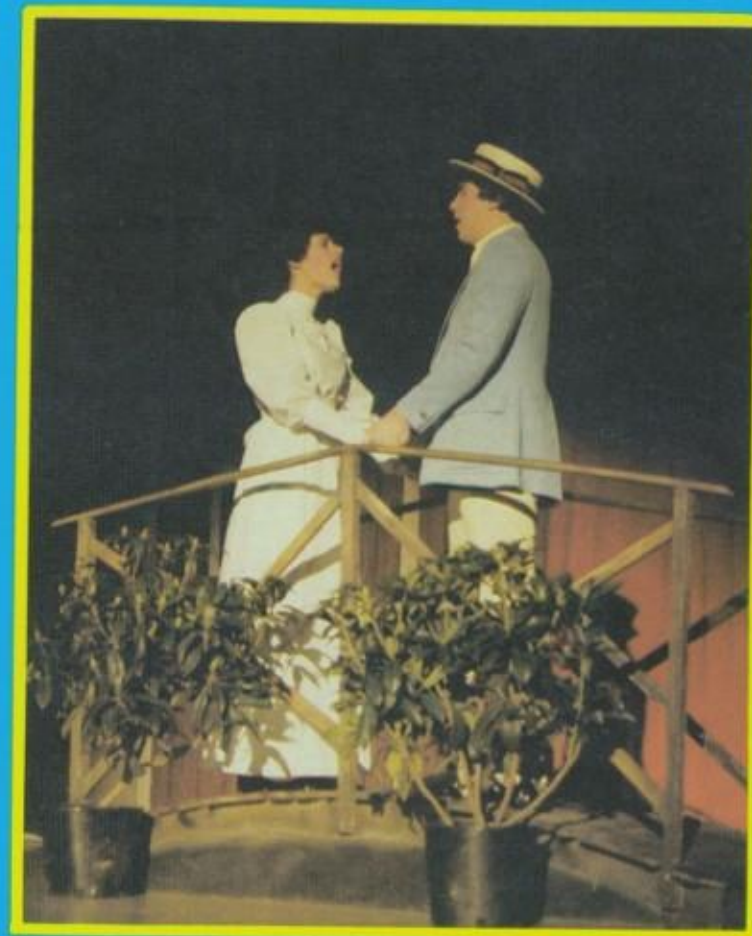

What expression of line and movement!

Ever done anything with perpetual motion?

We got trouble right here in River City!

There was love all around ...

Checking In

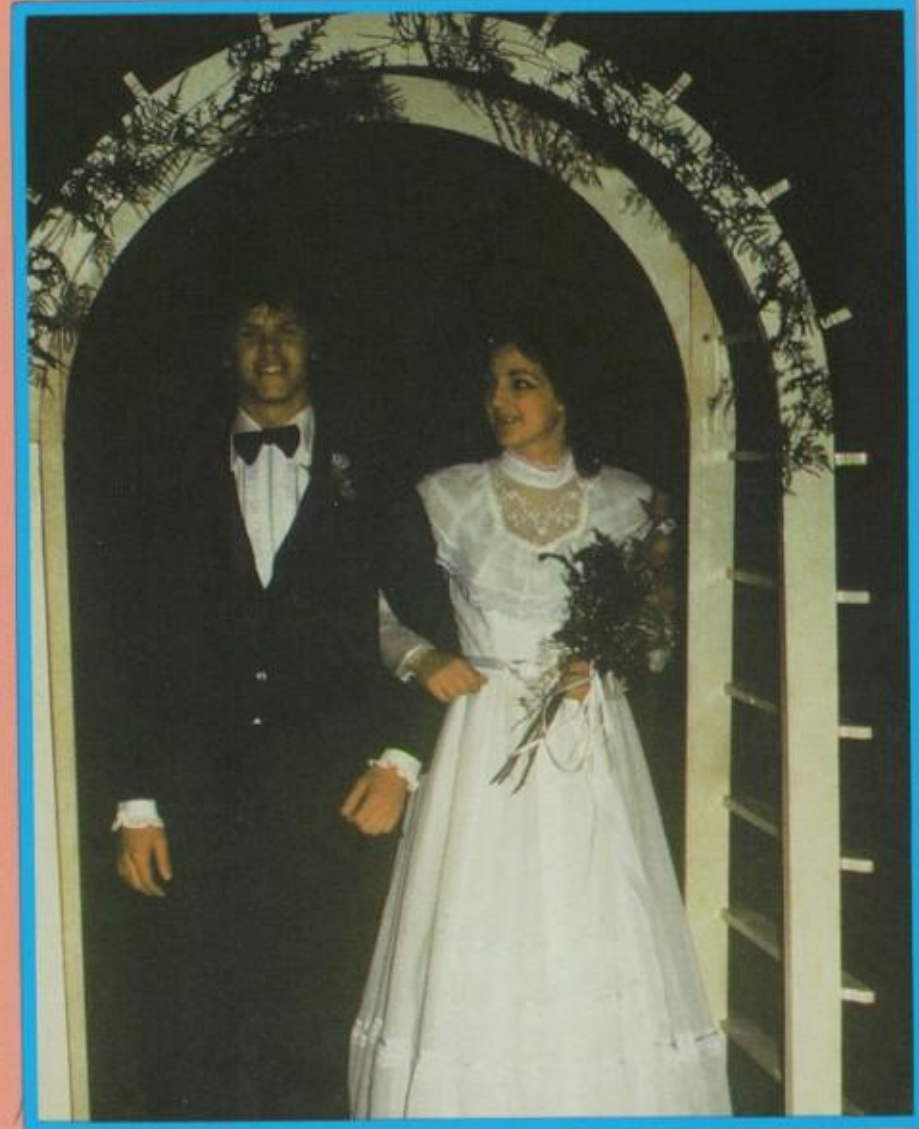

The 1983 Junior-Senior Prom, whose theme was Nights in White Satin, was held on May 21, at the Hyatt-Regency Woodfield. The students danced to the music of CHARIOT. Prime rib was topped off with cheesecake. Something new was added to this year's prom. Each girl attending received a bid, and each attending couple received pilsner glasses.

This was the most successful prom in Jacobs history with over 350 people attending. A coke bar as well as photographs were furnished by the junior class.

After the dance, the students journeyed back to Jacobs for a post-prom breakfast furnished by the junior parents. A psychic was the entertainment, and he really made us think about this phenomenal field.

Nights In White Satin

The junior class held a prom fashion show on March 8, in the auditorium. Kiki's Dress Shop in Algonquin provided the dresses, Algonquin Flower Shop provided the flowers, and Tuxedo Junction contributed the tuxes. Kiki donated money to the junior class for every dress purchased or every tuxedo rented. Students who modeled were: Joe Washburn, Ty Drougas, Scott Hoialman, Paul Lange, Chris Joebbert, Jay Lampe, Jeff McInerney, Jim Huber, Connie Novak, Amy Rice, Diane Donfris, Wendy Jernigan, Deanne Conte, Tracy Hanson and Gleneen Kozlowski.

Valedictorian

Salutatorian — Ben Nelson

"Education in District 300 is being treated as if it were a business enterprise, but education in my mind cannot be compared to a business. High school education deals not with productivity and new profits, but rather with people's lives, teaching and lots of caring. In breaking up Jacobs' school personnel, a system that had previously been effective is now being changed which is hard for many of us to understand ... So how do we handle change? Is change good or bad? And if it is bad, do we abandon all and give up? These are questions we must ask ourselves when change is in our midst. When confronted with change, we must first accept it, then decide on it, and next act accordingly so that we can make the best of all changes that will affect us."

"If you can imagine it, you can achieve it,
If you can dream it, you can become it."

One important fact we must all remember is not to lose sight of our dreams. We must set a goal for ourselves and pursue it to the best of our ability. The potential for success lies within each of us; so, we must use that potential. To accomplish one's own goals and to fulfil one's own dreams . . . It takes a lot of hard work and strong perseverance to accomplish one's goals. At times it may seem we have lost the battle, but we must remember to keep faith in ourselves. We must remember to be strong in order to win the battle that life has in store for us.

Someone You Should Know — Tom Schafer

Tom receiving a cash award on behalf of Jacobs High School

Perhaps the most outstanding athlete to come out of Jacobs High School in our seven year history is Tom Schafer. Tom was named to a number of All-State teams and was selected the MVP for the McDonald's Prep Classic held at the Rosemont Horizon. Because of this outstanding honor, McDonald's contributed $1,000 to Jacobs High School to use in their activities program.

Tom will be attending the University of Illinois next fall, and we hope to hear a lot about him in the future.

Sarah Harper, National Champion Top Ten Amateur Owner to Ride, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Once in a while something comes into your life and you know what it means to be fully alive; to be filled with whatever it is that life means to you. It is an experience that sets you apart from everyone else in the whole world, and at the same time, it gives you a feeling of belonging to the world and everything in it. For me, that something has been horses. Since I was six years old, the major activity in my life has been riding, training, and showing Arabian horses. This involvement has taught me much about life in general, and self-discipline in particular. It has also taught me to strive for my best performance, to learn from my mistakes, and to cope with difficult situations. Most of all, it has taught me the importance of a positive attitude. Without a positive attitude one can never give his best performance, and he can therefore never expect to succeed. One cannot expect to achieve a winning attitude through victories — instead, he will develop it through handling all situations with grace, and with the strength to go out and try again. Giving one's best performance is the key to success. If a person only gives a half-hearted, "cautious" performance he will never succeed. He will instead lurk in the background, never failing, never achieving, and never succeeding.

This is what competition has taught me. I hope most of the students at Jacobs have at least had a chance to compete in some sport or another while in high school.

I would like to express my thanks to all of the faculty at Jacobs who understood my involvement and helped to make it possible for me to compete while in school. They provided help and encouragement when it was most needed

— Sarah Harper

— Mike Maher and John Scime

Mike Maher is perhaps one of the most exceptional students to pass through the doors of Jacobs High School. Mike should have spent the last year at Jacobs, instead he finished school last year and this past year he has been attending the University of Illinois where he is now classified as a sophomore.

We are hoping to hear good things from Mike in the future.

John Scime was named the Free Press MALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR for 1983. John participated in three sports while attending Jacobs (football, basketball and baseball). While doing this, he also managed to graduate with high academic honors by finishing seventh in his class.

John will be pursuing only one sport in college — baseball. All of us at Jacobs wish him GOOD LUCK.

Leave me alone with her — now!

She folded her napkin!

I don't know how to reach you

She knows!

Teachers?

Forever and ever

This year's fall play, "The Miracle Worker," provided the cast with a dramatic challenge. The story tells of Helen Keller and her long, hard struggle to learn, taught by the persistent Annie Sullivan. As the play begins, we learn of the Kelly family's frustration over how to teach Helen. One of their attempts to get help brings a once blind eager young teacher, Annie. Her bluntness and her efforts to break Helen of her bad habits causes tension between Annie and the Kellers. They finally allow her to discipline the child and Annie is able to reach Helen. Through the gift of language, Annie wins Helen's love and trust.

HERO

The H.E.R.O. club is made up of students enrolled in the Home Economics and Related Occupations class. Students raise money throughout the year to help support the annual Employer Appreciation Banquet and vocationally oriented field trips. One of the ways that the students raise money is by having donut sales on alternate Fridays.

Employer Appreciation Banquet

The banquet this year was held at Cattleman's Burger and Brew, and started a new tradition at Jacobs. The banquet was held in the form of a brunch and started early in the day.

The purpose of the banquet is to honor students in the coop field who have done outstanding work during the year. It is also a chance to thank the employers who help to make the program a success.

At the senior Breakfast Lisa Feiereisen (right) was named Coop Student of the Year.

A Contemporary Night

This year's Contemporary Night was short because of a lack of auditionees. Compared to other years, there was only a small number of acts in the program, but once again the show met with an enthusiastic audience and a great deal of success. Steve Sturm, master of ceremonies and writer of the continuity dialogue, kept things running smoothly in front, while Jody Thurow as stage manager did an xcellent job coordinating backstage activity. Although the 1983 show was good, it is hoped that in the future more students will want to participate.

ACTIVITIES

Student Council

This year's student council was busy with various activities, such as Homecoming, which was an overall success.

In the fall of the year they managed to reopen the school store, which they feel has been a valuable asset to the student body.

Prior to the mayoral election they brought in the mock elections to allow the students to express thier political views.

Near the closing of the year, the student council gave a faculty breakfast to express its appreciation to the staff.

Talon

Oh dear, what do we insert here?

I hope this fits.

The Talon staff has been working hard putting together its stories and special features for Jacob's students all year. In all, they put out three large papers.

This year the staff is headed by Linda Nehls — editor-in-chief, Tom McEvilly is the Talon's sports editor, Ken Cobler is in charge of locating advertisements, and Mary Rhyner is art editor. The rest of the staff is branched into photographers, reporters, and typists. All of these people are under the guidance of Mrs. Vrba, the advisor.

Checking it out!!!!

How many times do I have to check this copy?

Pasting up.

We're almost through!!!

Eyrie

That's a good idea.

What's this?

I didn't realize there were so many seniors!!!!

Making a list, checking it twice.

Maybe this will work.

A new tradition at HDJ

How about that picture?

What can I put in this space?

One final check over

The Jacobs yearbook this year will be better than ever. We are adding eight more pages of color, including prom and graduation.

We have also sold more yearbooks this year than ever before.

With Homecoming this year, the yearbook staff started a new tradition. Yearbooks will be distributed the Friday night of homecoming between the tug-of-war and the bonfire. That way graduates from last year may pick up their books and reminisce. This year, the student council provided hot chocolate while people were scanning the books and getting autographs.

Most of the copy for the yearbook this year was supplied by Mrs. Vrba's Journalism class, and we wish to thank them for a job well done. A big thank you to Bob Murphy, who drew our cover, and Mike Biller, who did our division pages.

A lot of hard work was put in by the staff getting photographs, doing the layouts, and meeting the deadlines. It was a lot of hard work, but the pizza parties helped to make it more fun.

A Cappella And Swing Choir

This 57 voice Junior-Senior A Cappella Choir was one of the strongest in Jacobs history. The mature sound created by using only Juniors and Seniors was quite evident this year. Hopefully, this tradition can be continued in years to come. The choir sang at all 3 major school concerts as well as the District 300 Choral Festival in October and the Fox Valley Conference Choral Festival at McHenry High School in February.

The Jacobs Golden Eagle Swing Choir was very active during the 1982-1983 season. This multi-talented group visited the Spring Hill Shopping Center during the Thanksgiving break, at Christmas they sang for the Dundee Lioness', performed for the incoming freshmen and their parents in January, and entertained the Algonquin Business Men's Associates in February. As usual, they performed at the Winter and Spring concerts, and conducted their annual spring tour of the area schools. One of the group's highlights this year was performing an original piece written, orchestrated, and fully arranged by Ellen Doerrfeld. The song was entitled "Words of a Song." Rick Krawczyk also arranged "Truly" for the group.

The Sophomore Mixed Chorus performed at the Winter, Christmas, and Spring concerts. In February, they sang for the visiting fifth graders from six of the elementary schools in the district. As in the past, the current Sophomore Mixed Chorus journeyed to Aurora to participate in the Fox Valley Music Festival. Next year, they will be a part of the Junior-Senior A Capella Choir.

This year's Freshman Mixed Chorus was the largest in Jacobs history. It was split into two full choruses, but sang together at all of the school's major concerts. In the Christmas concert, the chorus sang a medley of Christmas carols with the band. Much improvement was seen throughout the year with many of the singers performing in the Spring Musical, "Music Man." Many of these promising singers will have major roles in the musicals of upcoming years.

If you have a free period, you might be interested in getting out of study hall. How? By becoming an office worker. The main, attendance, and guidance offices each have student helpers.

The students in the main office act as runners, envelope stuffers, and delivery personnel. The students in the attendance office perhaps have the responsible job. During first hour, they are responsible for gathering the attendance cards. Their other duties include delivering messages, and answering the phone if the secretaries are not available. The helpers in the guidance office act as runner, filers, test correctors, alphabetizers, tour guides, and envelope stuffers. But perhaps their most demanding task is laughing at Mr. Stearn's jokes.

Miss Anderson Jacobs Loses Again

In addition to all the other loses, Jacobs is also losing its athletic trainer, Debbie Anderson. She has been a certified trainer for four years, three of those at Jacobs. When asked if a full-time trainer is needed, Miss Anderson replied, "I believe the individual who acts as the trainer, full time, is by far more qualified than a trainer who visits a school once a week." Knowing the trainer gives the athlete more confidence in the one who treats him.

Miss Anderson is an enthusiastic backer of all activities at Jacobs. Not only are the students and athletes going to miss her, but also the many parents who cannot afford the long-term services she is known for.

Their record was 4-17. Most valuable player, Karen Linden, scored more than half the points during each game and was the top rebounder.

For One Bright, Shining Moment . . .

On November 19, 1982, one would never have guessed that this little known school would have raised the eyebrows and interest of so many. Not only was history to be made at Jacobs, but fan support would reach its zenith. Often walking into the gym, one might have mistaken it for a Hawaiian Luau or an invasion of the college set (showing their spirit, students dressed for the occasion). The deep talent of the team plus the heightened school spirit contributed to the best overall season in the history of HDJ.

The varsity team this year broke 31 team and individual records and received many accolades from the area and state papers. And with their outstanding record, it is easy to see why. Along with a 23-3 season (13-1 conference) the Eagles also were champions at the Jacobs Thanksgiving Tournament, the Northern Illinois Christmas Tournament, (where Tom Schafer was named MVP), and they won the Fox Valley Conference Title.

Outstanding performances were put in by a number of players, and they received the following superlatives: MVP-Tom Schafer; MOST IMPROVED-Daren Stanek, BEST DEFENSE-Joe Majeski, BEST ATTITUDE-Brian Mekush.

The most publicized player on the team was Tom Schafer. He was named Elgin Courier and Free Press Player of the Year, the Chicago Tribune and Sun Times, Champaign News Gazette, and IBCA All-State Team member, and he was selected to play in the McDonald's Prep Cage Classic, where he was named the MVP. He was a unanimous choice for FVC All-Conference Team.

Brian Mekush, another FVC All-Conference, Free Press and Elgin Courier First Team honoree, contributed to the team's success. Brian had an outstanding season, but perhaps the best example of his ability and leadership came during the Regional against Wauconda. Brian had perhaps the best game of his career, scoring 31 of the team's 49 points, including 16 of the team's 26 in the second half. When Brian was asked if he was proud of his efforts, he replied, "You can always do better with improvement."

"It takes more than two people to make a team, and the rest of our players did an outstanding job. Without them it would not have been possible," as Brian stated, "we were more than a one-man team."

The biggest reason for our success this year was the ability of all our seniors and juniors to accept their roles on the team. It was a pleasure to coach all these men and to have a year free from discipline and morale problems. The coaches in the basketball program hope that future players will be willing to put forth the effort that this team did and to enjoy their careers as much as this year's varsity team did.

— Coach Slimko

The sophomore basketball team has improved tremendously since their freshman year. Their record was 9-12. Mark Slimko leads the team in scoring and rebounding. Freshmen Jay Scime and Pat Arnold contributed to the team's success. The team was riddled with injuries throughout the season, but their ability to work with Coach Schwartzwalder and Allen was helped them to an improved season.

Can anyone fill his size 14 1/2?

Don't let it be forgot that once
 there was a spot
 For one brief shining moment that was know as
 CAMELOT

Every time we turned a sports page we saw or read the word, Jacobs, Schafer Slimko or Mekush. These words became ordinary and sometimes were taken for granted, but where does it all end?

It ended with a game some people might have overlooked, except those that played heroically and in an effort to win — the effort just fell short. The abrupt halt had stunned those that watched with fists clinched.

Without warning or reason, a glorious season and a hopeful regional beginning were shattered. The firepower and overshadowing figure of Tom Schafer had been heartily missed and despite the offensive surge of Brian Mekush, the offensive hole could not be filled.

Before anything could be done about it, time was running short on the Eagles and their amazing season.

The final chapter of the story ends without Schafer and his incredible abilities, but life goes on and the sweet memory of a victorious season remains forever.
